THE POOR BLIND CANDIDATE

The petition is signed. The fee has been paid. The serious job of investigation is complete and favorable reports submitted. The Soloman secret ballot is cast. The petitioner is elected. During this time (3 to 4 months) the man is in darkness. He wonders. Timid questions are asked of friends and Masons.

My Brothers, are our answers in conformance with our teachings? Do we attempt to instill confidence without violating our obligations to the Fraternity, or do we infer doom, horseplay, or a great practical joke at the petitioner's expense is imminent?. We should remember this man believes he is about to join a worthy organization. He had to be impressed by Masonry somehow. He paid a considerable fee for something he knows nothing about.

Our candidate is now at the door. more apprehensive. the time is near. Do we give him a coin and tell him to tape it to his foot sole and allow no one to take it from him? Do we infer he is about to ride a donkey or a goat? You have heard this and so have I. Irregardless of how innocent the intent of such actions, irregardless of the fact we know this candidate will personally accept our inferences in the proper spirit, it is my studied opinion my Brothers, that these things we should not do.

Remember. first impressions are lasting. This candidate is forming first impressions. We should be attempting to upgrade these impressions instead of downgrading them.
