The Reward

The ultimate achievement in Free and Accepted Masonry is accepted universally to be proficiency in the Master Mason's Degree, in Masonry, no higher degree exists. Other degrees, designed as Masonic, by the ingenuity of man may not be considered superior to the Master Mason Degree. It is this concept however that the Master Mason Degree is the superior position in masonry which may have led to the creation of other concordant Masonic bodies. This, by providing the atmosphere for such existence.

In the blue lodge we are exposed to the concepts which make good men better men. The blue lodge however is dedicated to the service of these teachings leaving little time for the implementation of these same teachings. Masonic concordant bodies, however, are each created for the purpose of serving man and bringing our basic teachings into reality.

There should be a celebration honoring our brothers in concordant bodies for the good that they do in our society and their efforts in philanthropy. These associated groups of Masons regularly provide meals to people who need it, transport children to doctors in remote areas, assure medical care for those who could not otherwise obtain it, assist in burn therapy, speech therapy and many other grand and magnanimous gestures of good will.

As Masons we are each provided the tools in the form and usage of our regular lodge work. The interpretation and application of these teachings beyond the blue lodge is an internal effort, and one we each should consider.

A question for each of us must be-

When have I achieved the ultimate internal reward? Is it when I have personally achieved, or is it from the gratification of helping others, or what? The answer may be different for each of us, but the question still remains-

How are you going to use the tools you have been given?

Travis
